

Women Need Child Care

DID YOU KNOW?

- ♀ Ontario has a child care crisis where 10s of thousands of kids are on waiting lists for affordable child care.
- ♀ About 68 per cent of Ontario mothers whose youngest child is under age 3 are in the workforce, the percentage jumps to 79 per cent for those whose youngest child is under age 5.
- ♀ While there is a role for the federal government (funding) and for municipal government (administering), the Ontario government has the responsibility for child care policy, funding and licensing.
- ♀ The absence of a commitment to high quality childcare continues to act as a barrier to parents finding and keeping jobs (especially women) and the full development of children.
- ♀ Ontario parents pay $40 to $60 a day for licensed child care.
- ♀ Many child care programs are at risk of downsizing and closing.
- ♀ Other provinces have worked to improve high-quality child care. Quebec at $7 per day and Manitoba at $18.80 have affordable child care for families and funding to ensure decent wages and benefits for child care workers.

End Violence Against Women

DID YOU KNOW?

- ♀ Violence against women is rooted in social, political and economic inequality between men and women.
- ♀ The present government ignored recommendations from various inquests on violence against women.
- ♀ Canadian law and Ontario law both say women and children have a fundamental right to live free from violence. Yet, our own government keeps making decisions that keep women and children at risk of violence and ultimately reinforces oppression against women in Canada.
- ♀ Aboriginal women and women of colour, recent immigrants, refugee women, women with disabilities and poor women face compounded inequalities which further weaken their positions. Traditional generic approaches to addressing violence against women do not work for these women.
- ♀ One out of 2 women experience violence in Canada.

SOLUTIONS TO END VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN AND CHILDREN

- Women need to refuse to support and elect governments who work against this fundamental right of women and children.
- Legislative reform must reflect the reality of violence against women and its subsequent impact on children.
- Government must commit to public advocacy, including financial support and recognition of women's and equality-seeking groups as essential to the development of policy, practice and programs to end violence against women.

CHALLENGE LOCAL CANDIDATES AND THEIR PARTIES

- ASK Will you and your government implement The Step it Up Platform – An action plan for ending violence against women in Ontario?
- ASK Are you and your party in support of women's community-based anti-violence programs and willing to implement additional funding to such programs?
- ASK Are you and your party willing to implement recommendations from a number of inquests on violence against women?
- ASK Will you and your government implement strong regulations to cover the violence provisions under Ontario's Occupational Health and Safety Act

Women Need Pay Equity

DID YOU KNOW?

- ♀ Ontario has one of the highest gender pay gaps in the world –a shocking 29%. For every $1.00 earned by men, women earn just 71 cents.
- ♀ The most vulnerable women - Aboriginal women, women of colour, racialized or immigrant women, women with disabilities and women without a union in their workplace – face an even greater wage gap. Racial minority women earn 36% less than men and Aboriginal women earn 54% less.
- ♀ Women have much higher poverty levels than men. Women are more likely to work for minimum wage. Children are poor because their mothers are poor. When you scramble every month to make ends meet, losing 29 cents for every dollar a man is paid is devastating to a family's budget.
- ♀ Discriminatory pay affects Ontario women throughout their lives. Young women (high school graduates) earn 27% less than male graduates. Women University graduates earn 16% less than their male counterparts and this gap widens as their careers progress. 42% of elderly women are poor and the median income of retired women is almost half that of retired men.

SOLUTIONS TO ENDING PAY DISCRIMINATION

- Women need enforcement of present pay equity legislation.
- Legislative reform that eliminates wage discrimination for the most vulnerable women: Aboriginal women, immigrant women, women of colour, women living with disabilities.
- Funding for pay equity adjustment for proxy sector.

CHALLENGE LOCAL CANDIDATES AND THEIR PARTIES

- ASK If elected, are you and your party prepared to implement legislation that will address race-based wage discrimination?
- ASK Do you and your party plan to fully fund the years of pay equity adjustments currently owing to women?
- ASK Are you and your party willing to fully fund the Pay Equity Commission and Pay Equity Hearings Tribunal so that it can pro-actively monitor and address the pay compliance gap?
- ASK Will you and your party restore funding to the Pay Equity Legal Clinic to provide support for women in filing pay discrimination complaints?

Women Need Good Jobs

womenvote'11

DID YOU KNOW?

- ♀ 1 in 5 new hires in Ontario is temporary - up from 1 in 10 just five years ago. The average gap in salary and benefits between a permanent worker and a contract worker is 13% and a temp worker is a stunning 34% - for doing the same job.
- ♀ Women are 51% of the workforce.
- ♀ The most vulnerable women: Aboriginal women, women of colour, racialized or immigrant women, women with disabilities and women without a union in their workplace face an even greater job gap and are the majority of low-wage workers and workers in precarious jobs.
- ♀ Women have much higher poverty levels than men. Women are more likely to work for minimum wage.
- ♀ The lack of Employment Standards protections and enforcement leaves many precarious workers with little hope of getting wages owed.
- ♀ Women represented by unions earn almost $6.00 more than non-unionized women workers.
- ♀ Study after study shows that unionization is the key to good jobs.

Eliminate Poverty

DID YOU KNOW?

- ♀ Despite continued economic growth, poverty maintains a strong hold on many families in Ontario.
- ♀ Minimum wage does not meet the needs of families for a living wage.
- ♀ In Toronto, 140,000 people use the daily food bank every month in a wealthy province like Ontario. Social assistance cuts have affected women with disabilities the most.
- ♀ Women and youth make up 83% of Canada's minimum wage earners.
- ♀ 1 in 4 poor children lived in families where at least one parent worked full-time. Working parents in full-time jobs earning minimum wage live in poverty.
- ♀ Children are poor because their mothers are poor. When you scramble every month to make ends meet, losing 29 cents for every dollar a man is paid is devastating to a family's budget.

SOLUTIONS TO ENDING POVERTY FOR WOMEN AND CHILDREN

- Good paying jobs support families and are a key component in reducing poverty.
- Raising the shelter allowance portion of the Ontario Works and Ontario Disability Support Program to average rent levels in each community.
- Development of a comprehensive strategy to improve labour market conditions.
- Improvements in income support programs and investment in public services.

ASK If elected, do you and your party support changes to increase fixed income programs to today's living standards and plan to maintain increases with inflation?

ASK If elected, what is your party's plan to develop a comprehensive labour strategy with all affected parties to create jobs and improve working conditions for workers?
